

Coronavirus Cocoon

Early in 2020, the Coronavirus came,
For the rest of our lives we'll remember that name.
'Please stay inside,' we were urgently told,
'This virus is lethal, for young and old.'
We waited endless weeks, hoping it would pass, speaking to friends through a screen of glass.
Then an amazing vaccine was made,
With this protection we were much less afraid,
Now, like butterflies, we emerge from our cocoons,
Spreading our wings to live joyfully, freely..... soon.
